

OTTAWA SPOTLIGHT EXPORT FEED GRAINS NOW UNDER CONTROL

By M. McSODALL

Ottawa, Sept. 11.—In Capital circles there is a deep and abiding satisfaction at the courageous words boldly spoken at the Lord Mayor of London's luncheon last Thursday. With humanity tottering on the edge of an abyss, it felt that it was a time for the stark truth and that with the unbroken and an expanding goodwill of a century and a quarter between the British speaking countries of this hemisphere, who was better fitted to tell that truth than the Prime Minister of this Dominion? There was no barb whatever in the words spoken by a lifelong friend of the United States, just the plain truth of freedom's direct of the full aid of the entire yet unengaged world.

Canada is taking further steps to buckle on her economic armor more firmly. This country's war effort, substantially though it is with the eating, training and equipping men for the three fighting services and with the production of materials of war, has not yet become completely self-sufficient. It is a fact that the life of the people. There has been a persistent campaign, in which finance minister, Haley has played a prominent part. In this appeal has been made to the people voluntarily to save, to cut civilian use of essential war materials generally to cut their method of living cloth to the measure of war's demand. Oil controller Cottrille has been urging reductions in the use of gasoline, and his last word is that restrictions by the government are inevitable.

The minister of munitions and supply, C. D. Howe, who has a board controlling 11 goods and services, including steel, oil and metals, has appointed a controller of agriculture, who is under control whatever other commodities he feels should be included. Rubber and silk have been added to controlled commodities, the government has "frozen" stocks of silk and wool, and regulations are forthcoming. The rubber and silk situation has been affected by the uncertain atmosphere of the West Pacific. The munitions department at the same time has instructed manufacturers of war materials to enter their priorities claim for needed goods imported from the United States so that their export ratings may be dovetailed in the strict regulations that have been put into effect by the priorities and allocation board in the United States. Canadian plants will receive the same treatment as American war factories. This aids in the general work of co-ordinating war production in Canada and the United States which is being studied by a joint committee.

The munitions minister has brought his system of control to adopt a definite principle of "tightening up" on the manufacture of goods for domestic purposes which consume materials needed for war plants. This principle is and will be applied to all materials of which there is a shortage of supply. The manufacture of motor cars for export has been reduced for 1942 to 45 per cent of the 1940 figure. There may be a further reduction. Where the output of plants is reduced, they are given war orders to make up the deficiency. In the connection the minister of finance has explained that there is work for all factories and that he is giving more work to the men of private factories and machine shops.

The munitions minister has recently given a very gratifying picture of Canada's production of war materials. Canadian factories could equip an infantry division within five weeks. Equipment for Canada's army transported to Britain and her armies in various theatres of war, to British Dominions and far off China. Now war materials will be shipped to Russia.

RECRUITING PARTY HERE SEPT. 15

RECRUITS WILL BE ALLOWED LEAVE OF ABSENCE TO COMPLETE HARVESTING

Captain W. S. Wallace was in charge of this district on a recruiting trip which will include the following: STRATHMORE - SEPT. 15th. ROCKYFORD - SEPT. 25th. Men are required for all branches of the service and suitable recruits will be posted to units immediately. Friends may arrange to be posted to the same unit. Men who are willing to join the army but who wish to complete harvesting first, may enlist now and be given leave of absence until harvesting is over.

The export of feed grains from Canada has been brought under control through orders signed by Hon. James G. Gardiner, Dominion Minister of Agriculture and published in an extra issue of the Canada Gazette. One of these orders prohibits the export from Canada of oats, barley, and any combination or mixture of these or of either of them with other feed grains, grown or ground, unless such shipment is accompanied by a permit signed by or on behalf of the Minister of Trade and Commerce. A second order brings under similar control wheat of grade 4 or lower grades. This action in bringing under license the export of coarse grains and the lower grades of wheat is in line with measures that have already been taken to exercise rigid control of export in the case of milkfeeds and other feeds and feed ingredients.

The New League of Canada Does Valuable Work

Further regulations will soon be issued by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, the powers of which were recently increased and which is to be after working in close cooperation with the War Industries Control Board of the department of munitions and supply. These two bodies and their respective members have wide powers over the economic life of the country. Both have the same major goal, that of giving increasing momentum to the economic war effort. The price board approached its duties primarily from the angle of the consumer by watching prices and preventing inflation and exploitation. Even from the first, however, this board has had in the case of wool and coal the duty of aiding in the supply of war industry. Now its responsibilities are expanding to blanket the whole civilian economic life so that the war industries may be kept at full blast.

There is every indication that the outlook for farmers in Canada will improve in the coming year. This is the opinion confidently expressed by the minister of agriculture, who has barriers on full export to Britain are being let out, a situation resulting in part at least from the expansion in the American program of ship construction. A concrete example of agricultural expansion in the market is found in the bacon segment which is for "not less than" 600 million dollars of Wiltshire sales for the coming year. Britain may contract with Canada for 150 million lbs of cheese instead of 112 million, the amount of the 1940 contract. British exports have been keeping up favorably in comparison with last year. The feed grain situation, aided by the government's export program, is a most satisfactory in regard to the amount available for livestock feeding. There is still the question of the price of grain for shipments from the west to the east. A conference of representatives of provincial governments and the federal government will be called. Last year with the provincial governments the Dominion department paid one-half the freight on grain to give farmers for livestock feeding from west to east.

The reason for these control measures is that, because of unfavorable weather conditions this year in the Eastern and Western sections of Canada, production of coarse grains may be materially below that of 1940.

RECONSECRATION WEEK PRAYER

ORD OF HOSTS, in this time of our reconsecration to Thy service and in defence of the light brought into this world by Thy beloved Son, we turn to Thee in prayer. We pray for our fight against evil, for the strength of the air that they may be imbued with courage to persevere and strength to vanquish the dark forces which now seek to rule this earth. We pray for endurance for all those who, in any way, are engaged in this great conflict, and for our peoples, understanding of the truth. We pray for mercy for the stricken, consolation for the bereaved and strength for those who, having blazed the path, have been asked to "Thine arms." These things we ask, O Lord, so that in the fulfiling of Thy dread conflict may cease, and our children may triumph, and our children be brought to Thy Kingdom, and to do those things which are of good renown, to know and to spread the Christian Light. Amen.

LIONS CLUB MEETING

The Lions Club got off to a good start on this year's program last week, when they held their first gathering of the season at the Sample Room of the King Edward Hotel. With President Dr. Griffin in the chair, and Paul Taylor, Vice-President, presiding, the cup around the group cheerfully. Everyone was in high spirits. The Rev. Mr. Clegg of Carleton Place was the guest speaker, and chose as his topic some of the adventures he encountered in his early years in the ministry in this province. Mr. Clegg held the eager attention of his listeners as he traced a number of unusual and sometimes exciting events, such as the illegal sale of liquor, the prohibition, the "fit epidemic" of the last war, and strong foreign feeling in a town.

Demand Dollar Wheat

Charesford farmers recently held a meeting to discuss the wheat situation. A resolution was passed asking the government to raise the price of wheat from 70c to $1.00 a bushel. One Northern at the terminal. It is pointed out that increasing costs of farm operations and the curtailment in wheat delivery quota threatens the very existence of western agriculture and must react unfavorably against the farmer. It was suggested that the meeting that other bodies should support the idea of wheat wheat appeals to the government at Ottawa.

Older Boy Scouts are used each summer for caddying at the Banff golf course. This year it was necessary to call for Scouts from as far away as Medicine Hat.

WEDDING

KEELING - RUSSELL

A quiet wedding was solemnized Thursday, Sept. 4th at 7 p.m. at the home of Rev. F. W. Locke, when Miss Doris Russell, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Russell, 152, 15th Ave. N.W., became the bride of Private Wm. Keeling, Canadian Postal Corps, Ottawa, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Keeling of Strathmore.

The bride was accompanied by her mother, who was wearing a gown of aquamarine blue, with brown accessories, and wearing a corsage of Sweetheart roses.

She was attended by her sister Mrs. W. Russell, Mr. John Keeling acted as best man.

Following the ceremony, the wedding party gathered at the home of the bride's parents, where a group of some thirty-five friends had assembled to wish the couple luck. At a jolly buffet supper, Mr. Keeling, R.C.M.P., gave a very apt toast to the bride, to which she responded humorously.

The happy couple spent a few days at the home of the groom's parents before leaving for the east.

Mr. and Mrs. Keeling will reside in Strathmore.

The Standard extends very best wishes.

Mr. and Mrs. Ridley have been seen and helpful residents of Strathmore for about 20 years.

This promotion is well deserved and we bespeak for them a very happy future.

MAJOR F. G. CROSS LETHBRIDGE, DIES

Lethbridge, Sept. 10.—Major Fred G. Cross, superintendent of the Canadian Pacific Railway irrigation department here and noted Western Canada artist, died at his home late Tuesday after a lingering illness.

Born at Leicester, Devonshire, England, in 1881, he came to Canada in 1906 and joined the irrigation department of the C. P. R. in 1907. He served overseas with the Canadian Railway Corps from 1915 until the end of the last war, and was demobilized with the rank of major.

In 1919 he was appointed canal superintendent of the company's Eastern Irrigation District at Brooks, and in 1924 he was appointed superintendent of operations and maintenance of the E.I.D. In January of 1926 he assumed the position held at the time of his death.

Major Cross was a member of the Engineering Institute of Canada and a registered professional engineer.

Noted As Artist.—A noted artist in Western Canada he was vice-president of the Canadian Water Color Society and an associate of the Royal College of Art.

Surviving Major Cross is his widow Margaret, formerly Margaret Greenwood of Whitley, Ontario, a sister of Sir Hamar Greenwood, Canadian.

Although far from war service scores, Roy Scout Pat Milligan, of Christopher Lake, Sask., was alerted ready for any serious emergency.

When playmate James Leavell, suffered a severe radial artery, Scout Milligan promptly controlled the bleeding by correctly applied pressure.

Mr. Leavell, the young artist, after a house a half mile away, then to a doctor in Prince Albert, 25 miles. He is the husband of Mrs. A. L. Danks at their summer home.

HEAVY EGGS FLOW

One of the most interesting phases of the egg market in Canada, during recent years has been the abnormal heavy summer egg production in the Maritime Provinces. The volume of receipts during July and August was maintained at a much higher level than ever before.

In view of the volume of the federal government for more eggs in order to maintain and augment the oversupply of eggs, this last information is most satisfactory.

The eggs are, really cooperating with the war effort. Now, all the government is asking of them, is that they get together, and lay individually, two more eggs per month than has been their habit.

The Wartime Industries Control Board, under the chairmanship of R. C. Berksshaw, and the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, under the chairmanship of H. D. McKinnon, have both been enlarged to provide for an interlocking membership.

In effect, this makes the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, as now enlarged, the supreme authority in the field of price-control; the other provides that the reconstituted Wartime Industries Control Board shall be in complete control of the supply and allocation of commodities and materials essential to the war effort.

The enlarged Wartime Prices and Trade Board is to have control in the price field over all Boards of the federal and provincial governments including the controls established by the Departments of Munitions and Supply, Agriculture, and Fisheries, and provincial boards exercising price control over such commodities as flour, sugar, and other food products and services. In practice the effect will be that all such bodies will continue their present functions and that the reconstituted Wartime Industries Control Board shall be in complete control of the supply and allocation of commodities and materials essential to the war effort.

Now to be still and rest, while the heart remembers
All that it learned and loved in the days long past.
To stoop and warm our hands at the fallen embers,
Glad to have come to the long way's at last.

Now to awake, and find no regret at waking.
Knowing the shadowy days are white again.

To draw our curtains and watch the slow dawn breaking.
Silver and green on English field and lane.

Now to fulfill our dreams, in woods and meadows Treading the well-loved paths— to pause and cry

"So even as I remember it,"—seeing the shadows
Weave on the distant hills their tapestry.

Now to rejoice in children, and join their laughter, Tuning our hearts once more to the fading strains—

To hear our names on voices we love, and after Turn with a smile to sleep and our dreams again.

Then— with a newborn strength, the sweet rest over,
Gladly to follow the great white road once more,

To work with a song on our lips and the heart of a lover, Building a city of peace on the wastes of war.

WORLD OF WHEAT

(By H. G. L. Strange)

Director— The Crop Testing Plan

A recommendation has been made to the Dominion Government to prohibit the export out of Canada of oster-barley and of feed wheat, all in order to conserve these grains for animal feeding in Canada; this conservation being considered necessary because the coarse grain crop is less than it was last year and because in addition an increase has occurred in Western hog population.

My own rough estimate is that the coarse grains will be about 50 million bushels under the amount required as compared with last year's needs. Canada has, however, an abundance of wheat, and 30 million bushels of wheat has the same feeding value for hogs as 50 million bushels of coarse grains.

My own suggestion, therefore, is that there should be no prohibition of the export of coarse grains and feed wheat abroad because our hog producers can easily use wheat in place of these exported coarse grains, and these exports will certainly tend to raise the prices of these grains; a price increase our farmers badly need.

Considering the relative hog feeding values of wheat, oats and barley based on feeding experiments, and taking into consideration today's grain prices, I calculate that wheat costs less to feed to hogs today than oats, and that wheat is no more expensive than barley.

HIDES AND SKINS

Ottawa, Canada.— Every person dealing in salted, cured or cold storage hides and skins must secure a license from the Wartime Prices and Trade Board. The fee for the license, which is effective August 16, 1941, is one dollar.

The order does not apply, however, to farmers or livestock producers dealing in hides or skins produced by themselves. Nor are persons who deal in or sell only unsalted or green hides or skins required to secure a license.
But butchers and others who store buy or sell salted, cured or cold storage hides and skins require a license, even though they dispose of hides or skins taken off in their own places of business or handle only small quantities for resale to others.

Application forms for licenses to deal in hides and skins may be secured by writing to the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, Ottawa. Any person handling hides and skins other than a farmer or livestock producer, who is in doubt as to whether he requires a license should write to the Wartime Prices and Trade Board indicating the nature of the hide business in which he is engaged.

THE WEEK IN EDMONTON

(BY DAN E. CAMPBELL)

(Director of Publicity)

Belief that a teacher shortage is possible in the Northern sections of the province was expressed this week by Dr. H. C. Newlands, supervisor of schools. Movement of teachers to central parts of the province is thought to be the reason for any shortage in outlying sections. Earlier in the year, the department of education moved to counter any shortage by appealing to former teachers to take up the profession again. Some 65 answered the call, but it is now found that most prefer to take schools in the home districts. Should a drastic shortage appear imminent, regulations governing certification will be passed, so as to augment the number of teachers available.

Alberta's poultry marketing board is now carrying on operations at the board grading and storage plant in Edmonton, acquired from the B. Weinberg company some time ago. The plant is served by 35 agencies. According to C. E. Christensen, chairman of the producer-board, it is planned to make the transition from existing to controlled grading and marketing in as smooth a manner as is possible, "always having in mind the interests of the consumer and the producer." He said that special "grading areas" will be established as time goes on.

First meeting of the committee which will conduct an inquiry into the organization and administration of the University of Alberta will be held in the near future according to Dr.
Fred McNally, chairman of the committee and deputy minister of Education. At the University, material for the information of the committee is being assembled by A. E. Ottewill, Registrar. Committee members are Dr. McNally, H. H. Parke, K. C. chairman of the Board of Governors, Dr.
Robert Newton, acting president of the University, Dr. H. C. Newlands, Superintendent of Schools, Francis G.

merce, and J. W. Barrett, secretary of the Alberta Teachers' Association.

Dept. of Agriculture Notes—
Exhibits of Alberta Cheese Win Awards at Vancouver—Alberta cheese factories made a very creditable showing with their entries at the Canadian Pacific Exhibition, Vancouver. Burns and Company, Round Hill, secured three first prizes and one third, while Burns & Company, Bruderheim secured two second prizes, and the Coaldale Cheese Factory secured one second and one third prize. Other factories listed among the prize winners were Burns & Company, Hawt; and the Armstrong Coop. Cheese Association,
Armstrong, B. C.

The production and quality of Alberta cheese has increased considerably during 1941 and as all eastern cheese is being exported to Great Britain, the consumers in Western Canada will be able to secure high quality cheese manufactured in the West.

Warning to Poultrymen—
It has come to the attention of the Department that there are quite a few flocks suffering from severe Enteritis. This condition is due to the fact that poultrymen are feeding new wheat in which there is a large proportion of immature kernels. This type of wheat should not be fed until it has an opportunity to age at least one month. A large part of this difficulty is experienced in districts where they are combining on uneven ground — maturity is not uniform and this condition is intensified where grain is damp. Attention given to the proper curing and ageing of wheat to be fed to poultry will control this condition.

The Fall Seeding of Grasses—In seeding grasses, the choice of a suitable seed time is an important factor if a satisfactory stand is to be secured. Grass seed will germinate best and seedling survival will be highest if seeding is done in a relatively cool period of the year. This is especially true in the warm sections of the Province where moisture is limited, and in the case of such a crop as crested wheat grass which makes its best growth in cool weather.

Satisfactory stands of grasses may be secured by seeding in the fall. In deciding the definite date for seeding, however, regard must be had for the condition of the soil and its moisture content.

A Message to Girls—

There is a big demand in business for young women, trained in Secretarial work. Many young office men have entered the army and their places can be filled only by young women or physically unfit young men.

Begin a Secretarial-Clerical Course at once and prepare in this way to your part to win the war. The sooner you begin, the sooner you will be ready to earn. Begin a Secretarial-Clerical Course as soon as possible. In this time of crisis it is not too much to ask you to prepare to do your part. Just consider what the women of Britain are doing today and you will enroll with us immediately. School is open all year round.

Our employment department reports a big demand for graduates. Our problem this year is not to find good positions—but to supply trained graduates to fill the demand. Early opportunities await those who qualify.

Office positions offer year-round income, pleasant environment, stimulating associates and a place of respect in the community. And best of all they offer opportunity for advancement and security after the war is over.

WHEAT FOR FEED

We were just about to sit down and write a fine article about the advantages to the farmer and the advantage in feeding wheat to their stock this winter, and allowing the coarse grains to be exported, when also came a notice from the federal government announcing that all coarse grain stocks had been frozen, and could not be exported except under permit from the government.

Along with another article, under the World of Wheat, this idea seemed to be worthless, now that the choice has been taken out of the farmer's hands. (However we still ran the W. or W. because it seemed to us like a good item.)

It seems too bad that when there was a little chance for the farmer to augment his income, though ever so slightly, the department of agriculture has it to remove the possibility.

According to recent estimates, there will probably be a shortage of fifty million bushels of coarse grains this year. Under such conditions, the price naturally tends to go up. Exporting of these grains would mean a little ready cash in the farmer's pockets. In view of the low prices he has been obtaining for the past few years, he is certainly entitled to. Next, the government would benefit immensely, in that they would obtain a new stock of their most precious commodity, foreign exchange, which they could use to buy more sorely needed munitions and tools of war. Furthermore, the wheat surplus would tend to become reduced, thus relieving the situation somewhat. Thirty million bushels of wheat, it seems, have the same feeding value as fifty million bushels of coarse grains, and with the wheat price where it is, the farmer would be money ahead in feeding his stock wheat. Figuring on the relative feeding value of grains and present prices, the Seale Grain Company calculates that if a dollar's worth of wheat has a feeding value of 100, then a dollar's worth of oats has a feeding value of 68, and a dollar's worth of barley has a feeding value of 102.

In view of the present crop conditions, it is to be hoped that the federal government may be moved to reconsider their stand, and that they will be generous in giving permits for export, thus giving the farmer some small chance to profit at no expense to anyone.

$1.00 Wheat Rejected

When officials of the Western Wheat Pools met with Ottawa officials a short time ago, they received a very courteous hearing, but little satisfaction, according to their story on arriving back.

The Pools were making four requests of the Government; to increase the initial payment for wheat to one dollar. No. 1 Fort William; to freeze the carryover stock as a war emergency reserve; that sales of wheat from August first should be classed as crop year '41-42, and that 1941-42 should be declared an emergency year under the wartime price act. Hon. T. A. Cresser, Minister of Trade and Commerce wired his answer, after being requested a second time for an answer to the effect that number one could not be granted, that two and three were in accord with the government's present policy, and that four was being considered, but it was unlikely to be granted.

Certainly the request of the Pools was not unreasonable. The average wheat of the situation in the west this year must recognize that seventy cents a bushel will not pay high rates of interest, nor even a good standard of living. The government has seen fit to grant cost of living bonus to the peoples of Europe, of the United States and of Canada. It must be remembered, however, that the displaying of these letters and the signals and the playing of the notes of Beethoven's Fifth Symphony will not in themselves win the war. At the best these signs are an encouragement to us all to persevere with the only possible thing that can win the war for us, which is ACTION. It would then, we suggest, be a good thing for all who use the "V" sign for victory to place underneath it an equally large "A" to indicate we not only think and write about victory, we must perform decisive actions to win it, and moreover these actions must be swift and strong, for time is passing by. Day by day, we must never forget, it is becoming later and later, and Hitler is using time to his advantage just as we are doing.

The Canadian farmer has knuckled down to his wartime tasks with all the hardihood of his pioneer forbears; when the government wanted bacon production stepped up, the hogs were forthcoming; when acreage had to be reduced, the farmer needed less wheat; when Britain called for more eggs, we delivered them; when the government has received all the cooperation it asked for from the farmer—surely it is time the farmer received a little support from the government. It is a poor game that cannot be played by both sides.

In the time of the Canadian government, the Pools included the following: "We realize fully the necessity of maintaining our war industries at the highest possible pitch of efficiency, and that in order to reach this workers should enjoy fair and reasonable wage rates. We know of no foundation upon which the principle can be established that agriculture should contribute to reduce supplies at prices below the cost of production in order that other groups of our population, which are already protected by cost of living bonus regulations, should enjoy a lower cost of living at the expense of agriculture."

"In this memorandum we have not tried to emphasize the unrest, dissatisfaction and anxiety now prevailing in the western provinces, largely as result of lack of adequate farm revenue to maintain reasonable living conditions. At the same time we would like to emphasize that, in spite of conditions at present prevailing, there are neither strikes nor lockouts in the agricultural industry."

—V FOR VICTORY
—BY MEANS OF
—AN ACTION

An extensive propaganda is being put out by the Allied nations to encourage the people in Nazi conquered and occupied Europe to have faith in the eventual victory of the Allies, and to induce these people, when the right time comes, to revolt. Little is said of the letter "V" standing for Victory and the signal of three dots and a dash, which is the Morse code for the letter "V". It has been found also that the first notes of the famous Beethoven Fifth Symphony also consists of three short notes and a long one, having the same sound as the Morse code for the letter "V". The displaying of the sign of "V" for Victory, of the Morse code sign for "V" and of the playing of the opening notes of the Fifth Symphony, is spreading rapidly throughout Canada. Individuals and organizations are placing "V" on their stationery and in their store windows.

"LIFE'S HIGH MOMENTS"

Last week Canada's Premier met in closest consultation with Britain's Prime Minister in most serious and serious discussion of the problems facing the Empire and the world today. It is just over the century mark (1837) when Wm. Lyon Mackenzie led in the movement for greater freedom of government.

In this hundred years Canada has been unceasingly for the status thus evidenced.

It is a very far cry from then to now, and millions of gallons of waters of political and national discussion have flown under the bridge during these years.

And today the "colonial" atmosphere has disappeared, and Canada's Ministers, as well as those of Australia and New Zealand are meeting in a common round table discussion of best methods for the solution of the general task of restoring Peace to the World.

It is cause for pardonable pride and heartfelt gratitude that Canadians have achieved—in this so short a time, a place of honor, and the outstretched hand of welcome and have proven themselves worthy of contributing a vital share in these Councils of Deliberation.

But Action is Needed Too—

All this, no doubt, is an inspiration to the peoples of Europe, of the United States and of Canada. It must be remembered, however, that the displaying of these letters and the signals and the playing of the notes of Beethoven's Fifth Symphony will not in themselves win the war. At the best these signs are an encouragement to us all to persevere with the only possible thing that can win the war for us, which is ACTION. It would then, we suggest, be a good thing for all who use the "V" sign for victory to place underneath it an equally large "A" to indicate we not only think and write about victory, we must perform decisive actions to win it, and moreover these actions must be swift and strong, for time is passing by. Day by day, we must never forget, it is becoming later and later, and Hitler is using time to his advantage just as we are doing.

Larger Allied Armies Are Needed—We hear that many German Divisions placed in Europe, in position to doubt for the invasion of England, have been withdrawn, and sent to the Russian front. Here is a golden opportunity for our Allied hand offensive to help the Russians by attracting many German Divisions away from the hard pressed Russian front. Unfortunately, it appears, the British Armies are not large enough as yet to attempt any such European invasion. It seems obvious, therefore, that no time should be lost in making our Allied Armies as large as possible so that they will be fit to meet the German Armies in land battle, which is the only way, military authorities say, the war can be won; remembering in the meantime that it takes almost a year to train a soldier to be properly fitted to go into modern battle.—Seale Grain Company, Ltd.
